OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The PCOMP opened at 7963.3 level and closed 7999.71. It had a gain of 0.45% for the month of June. It went to as high as 8139.74 and as low as 7880.74. The slide of the exchange was due to the geopolitical tensions between the US-China trade war. However, such drop was immediately recovered as market players only saw it as an opportunity to load more for their portfolios. The market was looking for any new leads to drive the exchange to new heights. Market expectations turn to the possibility of a rate cut by the US Federal Reserve in July.

Inflation for May 2019 posted at 3.2% versus April's inflation of 3.0%. This is mainly due to higher food prices, rents, utilities, and fuel. Joblessness rates fall to 5.1% in April Unemployment eased due to robust growth in hiring in the service sector during the election season. BSP also kept rates at 4.5% as BSP Chief sees it is prudent pause to assess the impact of recent monetary adjustments on the 3-phase 200bps cut in RRR which will be completed by end of July. There were net foreign fund outflows totaling Php 7.1 Billion for the month.
