OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Yield of short-dated government securities decreased on month-on-month. The 30-day tenor posted at an average of 1.0278% from 1.78%% last month or a decline of 75 bps. The 60-tenor posted at an average of 1.1921% from 1.66% last month or a decline of 47 bps. The 90-day tenor posted at an average of 1.0946% from 1.7% last month or a decline of 60 bps.

On the macroeconomic front, yields continued to fall as the BSP issued an unexpected 50bp cut. Inflation has also reached 2.5% in June than last month's 2.2% inflation. The additional rate cut could show that the BSP is still stimulating the economy through expansionary policies as the Philippine economy braces through the COVID pandemic
